THE FRIDAY BULLETIN

JANUARY 31, 1992

PRESIDENT'S MID-YEAR REPORT

Dear Colleague:

Since I have not had an opportunity to speak directly with most of you since the fall Convocation, I am writing to provide a brief mid-year report, which will focus heavily on budgetary matters.

Despite unprecedented budget problems, we are serving the largest number of students ever, and students express to me their appreciation. Having been able to avoid painful layoffs no doubt has helped us maintain the momentum of a thriving university. Rarely has a faculty and staff worked harder or made greater sacrifice. For that I am indebted to each of you, and I thank you.

Our current operating budget still has a slight deficit, but we will remedy that shortly. Our problem is not so much weathering this year's fiscal crisis but bracing for a budget shortfall that is expected to increase next year. Compounding next year's budget problem is our system's need to adjust to $179 million in prior year deficits and Governor Wilson's recommending to the Legislature $139 million less than our system's request for 1992-93. Although the Governor's budget contains $17 million for additional enrollment growth, we do not know what share, if any, of that money will come to our campus.

Thus we need your help as never before. We will engage in extensive consultation, especially with existing campus advisory groups. I plan to make myself more available to individuals and groups alike. I am asking our vice presidents, deans and directors to create additional opportunities for your input so that we have the greatest understanding of the direction the university must take.

Perhaps you already have heard that Governor Wilson's budget for The CSU next year precludes any personnel increases of any kind and has another increase of up to 40 percent in student fees. Because only one of our nine contracts with bargaining units provides for step increases (MSAs) in 1992-93, any MSAs must be negotiated anew.

As we plan for next year's challenge, we will need to economize wherever we can, beginning now. The Governor's present personnel freeze will continue indefinitely, although I am permitted to authorize the filling of truly essential vacant positions. Wherever possible, we will attempt to fill essential vacant positions from pools of internal applicants and limit external searches to faculty positions and specialized support positions for which there are no qualified internal applicants.

It may be necessary for us to reduce even further a few more non-instructional positions. At this time, I see no other way to meet next year's budget nor any other method that will enable us to lift the moratorium on the purchase of instructional equipment, computers and library books.

I am convinced that we can make the necessary future budgetary accommodations without cutting significantly into educational quality. We will need to focus our priorities more sharply and to work smarter. Clearly, there will be less money for higher education needs in California.

While we do not now envision the elimination of any academic programs or departments, some of our services may need to be reduced, perhaps even phased out in a few instances.

I urge you to give me the benefit of your counsel. I would appreciate it if you would write to me, phone me or attend one of the several group meetings that I will be scheduling between now and the end of the current academic year.

On a more positive note, I am pleased to report that the new Business and Information Sciences Building is ahead of its construction time schedule and that we will begin construction on the Student Union and Library expansions in mid to late spring, respectively. And if the Legislature agrees with Governor Wilson to authorize the sale of revenue bonds early, we could begin construction on the new Health and Physical Education Complex during the summer.

Thanks for your patience and for your splendid performance under very challenging circumstances.

Sincerely,

Anthony H. Evans
President

FORMER CONGRESSWOMAN SHIRLEY CHISHOLM HIGHLIGHTS BLACK HISTORY MONTH CELEBRATION

Former Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm, who today tours the nation promoting peace, prosperity and equality for all Americans, makes a special campus appearance on Feb. 6 to address "Unity Through Diversity" as Cal State celebrates Black History Month.

"Unity Through Diversity" will be addressed on Thursday, Feb. 6 by former Congresswoman Shirley Chisholm, who headlines the campus' Black History Month activities. Faculty, staff and students will be admitted free to the 8 p.m. presentation in the gymnasium with tickets obtained in advance from the A.S.I. Box Office. For tickets, call Ext. 5933.

Chisholm's roots in politics date back to the early 1950s when she worked in Brooklyn's boss-run Democratic clubhouses. Always challenging the inequities of the political machine, Chisholm rose from a clubhouse worker to earn distinction in 1968 as the first Black woman to be elected to the U.S. Congress. In 1972, she once again made history through her dynamic campaign for the Democratic Party nomination for the presidency. Chisholm was the first Black female to seek the nation's highest political office.

Ten years later, Chisholm announced that she would not seek reelection to Congress. Since leaving politics, she continues her crusade for peace, prosperity and equality for all Americans through writing, lecturing and traveling throughout the nation. She is the author of two books: "Unbought and Unbossed," an autobiography, and "The Good Faith," the story of her 1972 bid for the presidency.

Known for her fierce individualism, Chisholm has earned praise for her efforts on behalf of Black colleges, compensatory education, minimum wage for domestics, American Indians, Haitian refugees, migrant farm workers and the poor.

The former Congresswoman holds a B.A. degree from Brooklyn College and earned her Ph.D. in educational supervision from Columbia University. She is the recipient of honorary doctorate degrees from 31 institutions of higher education from across the nation.

Chisholm's "Unity Through Diversity" address is sponsored by the university's Student Life Office, A.S.I. Cultural Planning Committee, Student Union Program Board, Intellectual Life and Visiting Scholars Committee, Upward Bound Program, Black Student Union and Black Faculty & Staff Association.

Other Black History Month activities at Cal State include an African-American Vendors' Day on Tuesday, Feb. 25, from 9 a.m.-2 p.m. A wide range of wares, including arts and crafts, books and food, will be on sale in the lawn area between the Student Union and Creative Arts buildings. This event is sponsored by the A.S.I. Cultural Planning Committee.

UPCOMING CHILDREN'S SUMMIT CONFERENCE ADDRESSES COORDINATION OF SERVICES

Governor Wilson, local government leaders, educators and social service providers are being invited to campus to participate in a major conference on Friday, Feb. 7, designed to address the urgent needs of California's children, reports Dr. Margaret Atwell, associate dean for the School of Education.

The conference, titled "Cutting Through the Red Tape: Local Government Summits on Coordinating Youth Policy," represents an unprecedented effort by the California School Boards Association (CSBA), the California State Association of Counties (CSAC) and the League of California Cities to work collectively in improving services for children. This conference, the third in a series of 12 regional meetings, will focus on methods of integrating or linking public services and community resources in an effort to overcome such challenges as diminishing budgets, restrictive policies, fragmentation and duplication of services.

"Hosting this type of conference on our campus is very significant for us since we are so involved with many children's services, especially within the schools of Education and Social & Behavioral Sciences," notes Atwell. "It mirrors where many of our programs are."

At the conclusion of the summit series, results will be presented to Governor Wilson, who serves as honorary state chairman for the project, and also made available to children's services providers throughout the state.

STAFF EMPLOYEE RECEIVES PROMOTION

Staff member Teri Allen now is serving the university as manager, payroll operations.

Payroll documentation, auditing, staff training and customer service are among the varied duties performed by Teri Allen (Payroll), who recently was promoted to manager, payroll operations. She fills the position vacated with the recent retirement of Judy Meenan.

Other duties include meeting state and federal regulations for payroll processing and researching personnel transactions, such as appointments, promotions and reassignments. The Payroll Office also is responsible for correct documentation related to the nine bargaining units on campus.

Allen says customer service is high on her list of priorities. "I plan to continue to maintain service to the campus community by providing updated information regarding payroll procedures," notes Allen, who says she also plans to visit campus departments to "determine the needs for individual training." She adds that this individualized service will supplement the workshops on "Payroll Procedures" currently offered on campus.

"I find the job very challenging and rewarding," says Allen, who states that the reward comes from meeting a large number of deadlines and knowing that the office is doing a fine job. "We have a great staff, and I plan to build on staff development in order to better serve the campus." Commenting on her appointment, Allen says, "I am very pleased and excited that I was selected."

Allen joined the university payroll team as a supervisor in July, 1988 after working as a payroll technician at Cal Poly, Pomona since 1979. She is a graduate of Pomona's Ganesha High School and has taken numerous general education courses at Mt. San Antonio College. Eventually, she hopes to pursue a degree in business administration.

But for now, her job and family responsibilities take priority. Allen and her husband, Charles, reside in San Bernardino with their three children, ages nine, six and four. For recreation, Allen says she enjoys long walks with her family, often here on campus.

APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE FOR CSU FORGIVABLE LOAN/DOCTORAL INCENTIVE PROGRAM

Individuals interested in receiving financial support of up to $10,000 per year for up to three consecutive years for doctoral studies are encouraged to apply now for the CSU's Forgivable Loan/Doctoral Incentive Program, reports Dr. J. Cordell Robinson (Academic Personnel). Now in its sixth year, the program aims to increase the number of CSU faculty members who are minorities, women and persons with disabilities who are preparing for teaching careers in fields where they are under-represented, such as science, mathematics, computer science and engineering.

In addition to obtaining a faculty sponsor, applicants need endorsement from the department chair of their discipline. "There is a clear preference for applicants who have made definite plans to enter a graduate studies program as a full-time student," notes Robinson. "Ideally, you should have been accepted or have applications pending in a reputable program at an accredited university by the time you submit the application for the forgivable loan." The application deadline is March 1. Forms and information are available from Robinson in the Academic Personnel Office located in AD-109.

TOUCHTONE REGISTRATION DELAYED

The start-up of Touchtone registration is being postponed until at least the winter quarter of 1993 due to several complications in the implementation process.

"The conversion to the new student data system is a very complex process, and there was an initial delay in the arrival of the software," explains Cheryl Smith (Enrollment Services), who chairs the Touchtone conversion task force. The goal is to have the last walk-through registration of students this coming fall, she adds.

SPRING SPORTS SET TO GET INTO THE SWING OF THINGS

by Dave Beyer, sports information director

Senior pitcher Rene Aguilar begins his third season with the Coyote baseball team, which enters Division II competition this spring.

Ahh, spring. The time of year when athletics fans turn to thoughts of...golf, softball and baseball.

While the basketball and swimming seasons are winding down, Cal State's spring slate of athletics will be heating up, beginning in early February. Golf, softball and baseball are all poised to take their best swings at the 1992 season. All three sports will be making their NCAA Division II debut.

Golf, which year-in and year-out produced one of the top Division III teams in the nation, is expected to maintain its top-notch reputation under first-year Head Coach Bob Smith. The Coyotes, as a Division III school prior to this season, always managed to stack up well against higher levels of competition.

CSUSB's golf team will open the year at UC, Davis on Feb. 10-11. The team will play three home dates, including the March 30-31 Division II tournament at El Rancho Verde and Arrowhead country clubs. The team will feature five returning letter-winners: Donny Cross, Mark Andrews, Dan Cozzo, Brad Sondecker and Matt Smith.

Coach Sue Strain enters her third season at the Coyotes' softball helm with high expectations for her 1992 team. Those hopes are founded in her five returnees—Monica Reyes (Sr., 1st base), Felicia Harral (Jr., 3rd base), Michelle Mapstead (So., Outfield), Sheri Williams (Sr., Infield/Catcher) and Jodi Parker (So., Outfield). Harral was a second team, All-West Region selection in 1991.

The softball team will host an alumni game on Sunday, Feb. 9, at 1 p.m. and officially open the season on Friday, Feb. 14, at Christ College-Irvine. The Coyotes' first home game is scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 19, at 2 p.m. against California Baptist College. (All regular season dates are doubleheaders). And, the 2nd annual "Coyote Spring Swing" tournament is scheduled for Feb. 21-23 at Frisbie Park in Rialto.

With back-to-back Division III West Region championships behind it, the Cal State baseball team will open its Division II era and the 1992 campaign at home on Saturday, Feb. 1, against The Master's College. The doubleheader begins at noon. All home baseball games are played at Fiscalini Field, 1007 E. Highland Avenue, in San Bernardino.

Under new Head Coach Don Parnell, the Coyotes feature many new faces—but maintain the same heart and determination that has seen the team produce a winning record during each of its five previous years.

The baseball team returns pitchers Rene Aguilar, Rocky Ray, Chris Brown and Bobby Mendoza. Also back are Joe Baca (infield), Steve Stanfield (outfield) and Steve Thomas (shortstop).

Spring sports schedules and information can be obtained from the university's Sports Information Office at TO-122, or by calling Ext. 5012.

ON A PERSONNEL NOTE

NEW AFFIRMATIVE ACTION POLICY...

The university has adopted a new affirmative action policy, reports Dale West (Personnel). The policy, approved by the Administrative Council, was drafted with the assistance of the Affirmative Action Committee. This committee, chaired by Ed Harrison (Public Safety), meets regularly to discuss issues and to advise the president on affirmative action.

A key component of the new policy is the appointment of an affirmative action appeals coordinator. West and Dr. J.C. Robinson (Academic Personnel) serve as affirmative action officers for staff and faculty, respectively. Both individuals report directly to the president on all matters pertaining to affirmative action. They also are responsible for the first level review of complaints regarding violation of the affirmative action policy.

Dr. Melvin Hawkins (Social Work) has been appointed to a two-year term as the campuswide affirmative action appeals coordinator. Hawkins will hear all appeals of complaints that are not resolved at the first level of review conducted by an affirmative action officer.

In addition to the new complaint appeal procedure, the affirmative action policy contains provisions for recruitment, promotion, monitoring and other relevant issues that emphasize the university's commitment toward an effective and visible affirmative action program.

FAMILY READING RALLY RETURNS

A veritable word feast will be set before children and parents alike at the 1992 Family Reading Rally on Saturday, Feb. 8. The free, three-hour rally begins at 9 a.m. with registration outside the Student Union Building.

Served up with the assistance of puppets, marionettes, magic and storytellers, some of the best works in children's literature—both classic and contemporary—will be used to whet youngsters' literary appetites. Parents can enjoy a variety of activities with their children, as well as learn tips on how to encourage their youngsters to read.

Keynote speaker Penny Hirschman, who is nationally recognized for her work in reading and self-esteem, can be heard at various times during the rally. Hirschman is the curriculum coordinator for the San Bernardino County Superintendent of Schools Office.

Each child under the age of 12 will receive a free book, and several local booksellers will be on hand for book sales. Held for the seventh consecutive year on campus, the Reading Rally is expected to draw more than 1,000 participants. For more information, call the Department of Elementary and Bilingual Education at Ext. 5603.

PARENTS PLEDGE FINANCIAL SUPPORT

"Parents realize that the need is great and have responded generously," says Mary Colacurcio (Alumni Affairs), commenting on the success of the parents' component of this year's Annual Fund Drive. To date, student phonathon workers have doubled the initial goal of $35,000 to secure $70,000 in pledges from the parents of students ages 24 and under. Colacurcio attributes the success of the parents' drive to the enthusiasm and hard work of the student callers, and to the touch of humor added to this year's campaign.

"We feel the injection of humor into this year's campaign added a positive note," says Colacurcio. To capture the initial attention of parents, postcards with a clever message, reading "Dear Mom & Dad, Someone else will be calling you for money this time. Please support CSUSB's programs with your generous gift to the 1991-92 Parents Fund," were sent to prospective donors last fall. Then, the student workers made follow-up phone calls. Some parents, who indicated a willingness to give but who felt unable to provide a large gift, were encouraged to join the "9-1-1 Club" by pledging just $9.11 to the drive. Colacurcio states that many parents responded to this lighthearted strategy and pledged their support.

NEW PARKING VIOLATION FEES NOW IN EFFECT

Drivers beware. Members of the university community cited for a parking violation must now pay a $5 surcharge, reports Harry Larsen (Parking Services). Larsen says the increase is the result of State Assembly Bill 2142, which mandates that a $5 surcharge must be forwarded to the County of San Bernardino for each campus parking ticket issued. Funds will be used by the county for temporary courthouse and criminal justice construction. Typical campus violations include parking without a decal, overtime parking and parking in unauthorized areas. Questions regarding the fee increase may be forwarded to Larsen at Ext. 5912.

NEW FACE ON CAMPUS

by Dave Beyer, sports
information director

Athletics Department employee Nancy Simpson works with student athletes and coaches as the university's new administrative assistant for academic support/compliance.

"All of us in athletics are primarily concerned with the student-athlete," says Nancy Simpson, who joined the Athletics Department staff in late October to serve as administrative assistant for academic support/compliance. "Having been in their shoes, I feel for their needs. That's why we meet one-on-one, and I provide academic support for them.

"But my job also entails working closely with the coaches, educating them to the changes in NCAA and CCAA conference rules that seem to occur daily. Also, I want to help them as much as possible so that they can devote more time to the 'on-field' duties of coaching their teams.

"Likewise, a part of my assignment is working closely with (athletics director) David Suenram on special projects or needs he has."

Simpson brings a diversified background in athletics to her new position. She spent 12 years with UC, Riverside as a coach, physical education instructor and senior associate athletic director (often concurrently).

"I felt like after my tenure at UCR, I wanted to aim more at work in athletic administration," says Simpson. "This job is perfect for me. I have had experience in all of the areas Cal State needed addressed.

"Also, having been in the same conference, it was fortunate for me that Cal State joined the California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA) this year. I'm already familiar with the CCAA rules and regulations, as well as administrators."

Simpson's background in athletics goes much further than just her time at UC, Riverside, however. She earned her bachelor's degree from Berry College in her home state of Georgia, where she played four varsity seasons each of basketball and volleyball. In 1976, Simpson led Berry to the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women (AIAW) national championship. And, she was tabbed as the national tournament's "Most Valuable Player" and was an all-American selection. She is a member of the Berry College Athletics "Hall of Fame."

Thanks to the diversity of her experience, Simpson feels she has a great perspective on what lies ahead for her as CSUSB's compliance and academic support person.

"We have a great staff who have been very supportive of me," recounts Simpson of her time at CSUSB thus far. "The school has a great potential for success, and I am looking forward to doing all I can to help out through the transition time (to Division II)."

On a personal note, Simpson and her husband, Wayne, are residents of Victorville. After obtaining her B.A. from Berry College, she earned her master's degree from the University of Southern Mississippi and currently is working on her doctorate in education at Azusa Pacific University and the University of Southern California.

UNIVERSITY RECEIVES CHAMBER'S FIRST ENVIRONMENTAL AWARD

The campus' initiative in cleaning up hazardous materials, providing ride-sharing incentives and establishing a recycling program are among the activities that earned the university the first annual environmental award from the San Bernardino Area Chamber of Commerce. President Evans accepted the honor on behalf of the university at the chamber's Jan. 23 community banquet.

SPECIAL CEREMONY SALUTES DEBUT OF EGYPTIAN ART EXHIBIT

Celebrating a major display of Egyptian antiquities from the Harer Family Trust Collection, a special ribbon-cutting ceremony and reception was held in the University Art Gallery on Sunday, Jan. 12. On hand for the festivities were, from left: President Anthony Evans; Thelma Press, director of cultural and international events, City of San Bernardino; Dr. Benson Harer, director of the Harer Family Trust; and Pamela Harer. The impressive display of Egyptian artifacts remain on display at Cal State and at the San Bernardino County Museum in Redlands, CA, through March 1.
